

DIRTY BODIES PACKED IN HOLE

Over Discovers More Victims Wreck.

Death Roll by the Slocum Horror May Reach One Thousand.

Hundred and Eighty-One Bodies
Recovered; More Than Three Hundred Missing.

NEW YORK, June 18.—Unceasing search for over three days and nights has resulted tonight in the discovery of 181 bodies of the victims of the awful disaster that befell the excursion steamer General Slocum yesterday. Although this appalling number does not represent the full extent of the calamity, hopes are expressed that comparatively few bodies remain to be recovered.

Carried to Open Sea.

There is a possibility that when the hulk is brought to the surface a considerable number of corpses may be with the tangled mass of wreckage, which has defied all the divers' attempts at complete exploration. Doubtless, too, many bodies have been swept away by the whirling currents of Hell Gate and carried out in the broad waters of Long Island Sound or out past Sandy Hook to the open sea.

Over Three Hundred Missing.

The number still recorded tonight as missing is 325, but of these many have been accounted for whose names have been taken from the list, and others among the dead whose identification is impossible.

Discovery of a Diver.

In this search a diver today discovered in the river, near where the steamer was beached, and fully 200 feet from where the wreck now lies, a hole in which more than thirty bodies are closely packed.

One Hundred Funerals.

The region in the vicinity of St. Mark's German Lutheran church in East Sixth street was today the scene of 111 funerals representing the burial of nearly 300 bodies, almost all those of whom are children. Enormous crowds thronged the streets of the quarter, and a large force of police was necessary to prevent disorder and keep clear a passage for the long line of hearses and carriages. Funeral services were held in no less than thirty-seven churches of various denominations in this section.

More Bodies Found.

Sixteen more bodies recovered during the day were brought from the scene of the wreck to the temporary morgue at the foot of East Twenty-seventh street yesterday afternoon. So great was the clamor for admission to the pier that all comers of the crowd was lost, and on the pier the pier being thrown open a rush took place, during which many persons were knocked down and trampled on.

Unidentified Dead Buried.

Twenty-nine of the unidentified dead were buried today by the city in the Lutheran cemetery, leaving but eleven bodies still awaiting identification in the morgue.

Mayor McClellan today authorized Police Commissioner McArdoo to contract with a wrecking company to raise the hulk of the Slocum. A body was dispatched to North Brother Island tonight with orders to raise the wreck as soon as possible and tow it to shallow water off Rikers Island, where it may be searched for any bodies that may yet remain in it.

Coroner's Inquiry Monday.

The investigation of the Coroner will begin Monday morning and about 200 witnesses will be examined in the effort to fix the responsibility for the disaster.

Ballard Murder Trial Abruptly Ended

Alleges That Judge Is Biased, and Case Goes Over for Probably a Year.

Special to The Tribune.

ANDER, Wyo., June 18.—The trial of Jim Ballard, the double murderer, which was to begin this morning, has come to an abrupt end. Ballard, on being brought before the court, asked to have this case delayed to await the action of another judge, claiming the present judge to be biased and prejudiced by false report. There is a clause in the statutes making a claim of this kind sufficient cause for delay, so there was nothing to do but lay the case over. Judge Gray of Rawlins, who will probably try the case, cannot attend this term of court, and Ballard will probably have to linger another year in the county jail.

SISTER OF MURDERED MAN IS IN OGDEN

Victim Was Killed Twenty Years
Ago, and Two Men Confess
Sole Guilt.

TWENTY years ago, or to be exact, on June 17, 1884, a brakeman named John Edwards was foully murdered while doing duty on Cole's circus train as it was passing through Montana on the old Utah & Northern railroad. A year later a man gave himself up to the authorities of Minneapolis, Minn., confessing that he was the murderer of Edwards, and he is now serving time in the Montana penitentiary for the crime. But, after all these years, a second man has shown up in Kansas City, who claims that he is the real and only murderer of John Edwards, the brakeman. It is certainly a rare case in the annals of crime, and a sister of the murdered man, Mrs. G. J. Sloman of Ogden is anxiously awaiting the outcome of the double confession. It is understood that the second confessed murderer of the same man is being held in Kansas City by the direction of the Montana authorities.

It would be a rare case, indeed, should it develop that both men honestly believe that they murdered John Edwards.

CONTINENTAL LIFE WINS IN MONTANA

Efforts of Rival Corporations to Keep
It Out Fall in Supreme Court.

OFFICERS of the Continental Life Insurance and Investment company of this city were highly gratified yesterday upon receiving word that the Supreme court of Montana had rendered a decision favorable to the company in the contest brought against it in that State by general agents of some of the Eastern insurance companies. The substance of the decision is that the court has granted a license in favor of the company, and the proceedings brought against the company to prevent its doing business in Montana be quashed. Early in May of this year the general agents of some of the life insurance companies, doing business in Montana, requested the Auditor of State to cancel the license of the Continental Life Insurance and Investment company, on the ground that the company was writing a special contract, contrary to law. The State Auditor accepted these statements as facts, and instructed the company to discontinue business until he could investigate the character of the work the company was doing.

Following his investigation the State Auditor delivered the following decision:

"In the matter of the Continental Life Insurance and Investment company of Salt Lake City, Utah, complaint has been made to this department to the effect that the Continental Life Insurance and Investment company was engaged in soliciting and issuing policies in violation of the statutes of this State. The company was served with notice to discontinue writing these contracts, until an investigation could be made, under penalty of forfeiture of license in case of refusal. The company immediately advised the department that the request had been complied with.

"The alleged violation is found to consist in the issuing by the company of certain contracts called 'local adviser contracts.' Copies of these contracts and the application for the same have been filed with this department and on careful examination I find that they contain a complete contract of employment, requiring specific services to be rendered, for which a compensation is provided—and I am satisfied, such contracts, in themselves, in connection with life insurance or otherwise, constitute no violation of the laws of this State."

After this decision was rendered the company resumed business in the State and a few days later the general agents petitioned the Governor, requesting him to institute quo warranto proceedings against the Continental Life on the ground that it had not properly qualified to do business in the State, the principal objection being that the company had not required its officers to sign the first annual statement filed with the Auditor of the State of Montana, as required by law, and when this omission was called to the attention of State Auditor Calderhead he waived further quo warranto action and immediately notified the Salt Lake office of the Continental Life that it could not do further business until its papers had been properly signed and attested, and the company was obliged to withdraw its agent from the field until new papers were filed on June 3, since which time the company has been doing business in the State.

Immediately following the resumption of business a complaint was lodged with the Supreme court charging State Auditor Calderhead with malfeasance in office and with discriminating in favor of the Continental Life, of which concern he is a stockholder. The Supreme court set the hearing of this writ for Monday, June 13, and postponed the hearing until June 15, on which day the Attorney General joined the attorneys for the Continental Life in a writ requesting the Supreme court to quash proceedings, and after the case was argued by both sides the court took time under advisement and yesterday rendered its decision sustaining the writ to quash proceedings.

The Continental Life is still doing business in Montana. It has been very successful since it opened its doors on March 1, writing more than one million of life insurance during the first three months, carrying with it a premium income of over $40,000 per year.

JUDGE WM. HOWARD, Huntington, Utah.

Judge Howard says: "I have suffered fully 30 years with dreadful Catarrh, and nothing seemed to relieve me until I consulted Dr. Shores & Shores. I took their treatment faithfully and found prompt relief, and after using it a few months I was cured to all outward appearances, but wanted to see if it was permanent—and watched for any signs of the trouble returning. Now, after four years I am satisfied that my cure is absolutely permanent. I have had no signs of Catarrh in all that time. The hawking, spitting, clogging up the nostrils and such symptoms have long since ceased, and I heartily endorse these splendid doctors, for I know they can cure Catarrh permanently. Dr. Shores have also doctored me for stomach trouble with immediate and lasting benefit, and I can honestly recommend them to all sick people as being trustworthy and successful specialists."
